SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS ADAMS IN COLLINS CASE

Handed Down Important Decision Before Adjournment on Saturday.

GOES TO PARDON BOARD

Counsel Will Make Final Effort to Save Lives of Youthful Murderers of George Bushman.

The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania on Saturday handed down a decision upholding the court of Adams county in its decision convicting Clarence R. Collins for first degree murder of George Bushman, automobile driver of Gettysburg.

This decision of the Supreme Court was one of fifty eight made before adjournment for the summer vacation when it was stated that there was not a single undecided case before the court although over four hundred cases have been argued since the first of January.

None of the other fifty seven decisions of the Supreme Court equalled in importance the one affecting Collins as far as Adams county people are concerned as it means that the convicted murderer has no chance for a new trial and that the execution is now in the hands of Governor William C. Sproul.

Only one chance remains for the lives of both Collins and Charles Reinecker, his accomplice, who was also convicted of first degree murder and will suffer the same penalty, and that is at the hands of the Board of Pardons.

It is the intention of counsel for Collins to take his case before the Board of Pardons at its next meeting and ask for commutation of the death sentence. For that reason final disposition of the case will not be made for some time.

The cases of Charles Collins and Clarence Reinecker are the most interesting in the records of Adams county criminal court.

On the night of October 16, 1918, these two young men hired George Bushman, a local automobile driver, to take them for a ride. While the car was traveling near the juncture of the Adams-Cumberland county line one of the young men in the front seat, Collins, talked to the driver to attract his attention, while the other, Reinecker, fired the fatal bullet from the rear seat.

After their capture the two young men wrote out full confessions of their respective parts in the murder and were then convicted of first degree murder at the January term of court in 1919.

On April tenth of last year counsel for the defendant presented their argument for a new trial on the grounds that the murder was committed in Cumberland instead of in Adams county and that the trial should therefore have been held at Carlisle instead of Gettysburg. It was on these grounds also that the case was taken before the Supreme Court when the Adams county court overruled the motion of counsel for the defendant on August 25 and sentenced Collins to die in the electric chair.

Many Adams county cases have been argued before the Supreme Court and there was nothing unusual in that phase of the Collins case. The peculiar part, however, was that Collins was sentenced to die not only on August 25 but again on November 6 and a third time on March 1. These resentences were made necessary by rulings of the Supreme Court that each sentence had to be made in accordance with a prescribed form.

During the trial and all three sentences Collins maintained an air of absolute indifference which was explained later to a representative of the TIMES when the convicted murderer announced that he had joined the "Don't Worry Club." "When I first came to jail," Collins said at that time. "I paced the cell day and night. Then I began to think that worry would get me nothing so I stopped it. I am sorry for what has happened but it has happened so I may as well take things as they come."

Collins and Reinecker have been confined in the jail a few days over twenty months.

LOCAL MEN JOIN RAIL STRIKERS

M. E. Sprigle And George Hamm, Brakemen, Leave Yard Crew.

THREW OTHER MEN OUT

Strict Embargo Here Still in Effect. Situation on Reading Slightly Better, Officials Say.

Two Gettysburg railroad men, employed by the Western Maryland railroad company here, this morning joined the "outlaw" strike of yardmen and switchmen, according to a statement made at the company's office. The strike was renewed last week when crews at Philadelphia and Baltimore quit work because of delays on the part of the railroad labor board in adjusting the wage demands of the railroad men in the United States. The walkout of the two local brakemen crippled the yard crew so that the remainder of the men could not work. The two men who joined the movement here are, M. E. Sprigle and George Hamm. They walked off the job this morning, without giving warning, shortly after reporting for work, it was stated at the freight office of the Western Maryland.

The yard crew here has been working part time since the complete embargo was placed by the Western Maryland road because of the general strike of employes at Hagerstown last week. The only work to be done here since all freight shipments have been refused is that of cleaning up and a small amount of shifting. The crew did not work during the day.

So far as the Western Maryland is concerned there is no change in the local situation regarding the shipment of freight. No freight of any kind is being received.

Officials of the Philadelphia and Reading here have announced the situation on that road is clearing slightly and stated this morning that less than carload lots were being received for all points on the Central Railroad of New Jersey. The New Jersey road has been embargoed for more than four weeks. The situation at the Rutherford yards, near Harrisburg, is slightly better, and some trains are moving there, it was stated.

The most serious situation exists at Hagerstown where it is reported that 3,500 men are now out. Several hundred strikers attended a secret meeting in Hagerstown Sunday night when officers of the Brotherhood urged the men to return to work. No definite action was taken by the men but it is believed the meeting is a forerunner of a decision to return. The officers of the brotherhood told the men that the unauthorized strike is a breach of contract with the railroad companies and does not have the sanction of the brotherhood officials.

D. COLUMBUS KEMP

Promoter of First Railroad Here Dies in Frederick.

D. Columbus Kemp, 79 years old, one of the original promoters of the Washington, Frederick and Gettysburg railroad, died at his home near Frederick Sunday morning after an illness of ten days. His death was due to heart failure. He was president of this railroad company until its consolidation with the Hagerstown and Frederick railroad system. He then became a director of this organization.

REUNION OF BAND MEN

Veterans of 59th Had Big Time at Carlisle.

Veterans of the 59th Infantry band which was stationed here in 1917 gathered at Carlisle Saturday for their first reunion. There were musicians present from Shenandoah, Clearfield, Hagerstown, Gettysburg, Mahanoy City, Waynesboro, and other cities in the state. Arrangements for the affair were made by the bandmaster, John T. Sheafer, of Carlisle. Other reunions will be held in the future, it was decided.

CLERGY TALKED ABOUT POLITICS

Discussed Advisability of Sponsoring Independent "Dry" For Legislature.

DECIDED IT UNWISE NOW

Ministers Under Impression That Party Candidates Are Both "Wet". Union Services Will be Held.

Members of the Gettysburg Ministerium Association discussed the advisability of sponsoring an independent "dry" candidate for county representative to the Legislature at their meeting held Saturday afternoon in the Chapel of the St. James Lutheran church. After various members of the association had spoken on the subject, it was decided that in as much as the prohibition issue is now in the hands of the government and the provisions of the law a part of the constitution of the United States, no action should be taken by the local organization regarding the candidates for the state legislature at the November elections.

Several ministers who spoke on the subject said they understood that both the nominees, Dr. Eugene Elgin, Republican, East Berlin, and James C. Cole, Democrat, Buchanan Valley, for the legislature, were inclined to be "wet". It was decided, however, that any action on the part of the ministers would be unwise at this time.

Union services will be held Sunday evening during July and August, the Ministerium decided and announced the following schedule which commences next Sunday evening. The services will be held at 7:30 o'clock in the church of the pastor preaching the sermon.

July 4—Dr. A. E. Wagner.
July 11—Rev. W. R. Glen.
July 18—Rev. Harry Daniels.
July 25—Rev. F. E. Taylor.
August 1—Dr. J. B. Baker.
August 8—Rev. Paul R. Pontius.
August 15—Rev. Harry Daniels.
August 22—Rev. W. R. Glen.
August 29—Dr. J. B. Baker.

It was decided the collections received at these services will be given the Civic Nurse Fund.

Those attending the meeting were: Revs. Baker, Taylor, Glen, Pontius and Wagner. Rev. Pontius was elected secretary to fill the vacancy caused by Rev. F. H. Brunstetter's removal to Harrisburg.

SUMMER SCHOOL OF MISSIONS

Starts Sessions Soon at Wilson College in Chambersburg.

A number of church workers from Adams county expect to leave very shortly for Chambersburg to attend the Interdenominational Summer School of Missions for women and young women which will convene at Wilson College from June 29 to July 7.

Mrs. John Boyd, Helen Crissman, Mrs. R. S. Emrich, Dr. William E. Geil, Jennie Hughes, Helen Gill Lovett, Anna L. Milligan and others are among the speakers and leaders in missions who will be present.

Sessions of the day will consist of lectures and study in home and foreign missions and addresses by prominent speakers.

Independents Find Collections Too Small at Playground.

Manager John Raymond of the Independents is making plans to play the remainder of the home games on Nixon Field. If the necessary permission can be secured the game Saturday with Carlisle and the two games Monday with Lemoyne will be played there. Collections at the Playground have been disappointing, Mr. Raymond says, and it will be necessary to have a field where admission can be charged if the team is to continue throughout the season. Playground rules makes it impossible to charge admission for games there.

STATE TROOPERS NAB SPEEDERS

Fine Eight Men in Fairfield For Total of $112.

WILL ACT FROM NOW ON

Corporal John Dixon Says Automobile Owners Have Received Fair Warning to Obey State Laws.

Residents of Fairfield are of the belief that automobile drivers who have persisted in running through their town at twenty or twenty five miles an hour in the past will now be content to stay within the limit of fifteen miles.

The reason for this belief comes as a result of the action of two state policemen from Gettysburg who stopped six automobile drivers and two motorcycle riders on Sunday and fined them $14 apiece or a total of $112.

Owing to the construction work being done on the Lincoln Highway this year the road from here to Waynesboro via Fairfield has been used as the main detour. As a result Fairfield has experienced unusually heavy automobile traffic and the residents of that town have been annoyed, they say, by the speeding of a number of drivers.

Accordingly word was dispatched to Corporal John Dixon, who is in charge of the state policemen here, requesting him to send several men to Fairfield on Sunday to put a stop to the violations of the speed laws.

Privates C. A. Crumleigh and M. J. Ervord were given the assignments by Corporal Dixon and had no difficulty whatever in finding eight drivers exceeding the speed limit of fifteen miles per hour.

The men forced to pay the fine of $14 or else be arrested and placed in the Adams county jail were D. L. Strausbaugh, Oertanna; Frank B. Essex, Washington; Daniel S. Hardman and W. E. Hardman, motorcycle drivers from Jack's mountain; D. R. Stoops, Iron Springs; D. W. Crabbs, Morenci, Michigan; Dr. S. N. Levinstein, Detroit, Michigan; and A. L. Cowherd, driving a machine of the Mason and Hanger construction company.

Dr. Levinstein was the only man of the eight to put up an argument with

BACKS LEAGUE IN KEYNOTE SPEECH

Cummings Opens Democratic Convention. Scores Reactionary Republicans.

PRAISES WORK OF WILSON

Calls Senate's Failure to Pass Treaty "Black Crime Against Civilization." Tone Optimistic.

(By Associated Press)

San Francisco, June 28—The League of Nations covenant was championed as the "Monroe Doctrine of the world" by Homer Cummings, temporary chairman of the Democratic national convention, in his keynote address here today.

Of the peace treaty's defeat in the senate, he said: "No blacker crime against civilization has ever soiled the pages of our history."

He characterized the Republican platform as "reactionary and provincial." "Filled with premeditated slanders and vague promises, it will be searched in vain for one constructive suggestion for the reformation of the conditions which it criticises and deplores," he continued.

"The oppressed peoples of the earth will look to it in vain. It contains no message of hope for Ireland; no word of mercy for Armenia; and it conceals a sword for Mexico. It is the work of men concerned more with material things than with human rights. It contains no thought, no purpose which can give impulse or thrill to those who love liberty and hope to make the world a safer and happier place for the average man."

He declared that the peace time record of the democratic party from March, 1913, to the outbreak of the world war has to its credit "more effective, constructive and remedial legislation than the Republican party had placed upon the statute books in a generation."

Praising the administration's course in the war he said: "We fought a great war, for a great cause and we had a leadership that carried America to greater heights of honor and power and glory than she has ever known before in her entire history."

"Let no one misunderstand us. These great affairs were carried forward under the stimulus of American patriotism, supported by the courage and spirit of our people. All this is freely and gladly acknowledged, but surely the time has come when, because of the calculated criticism and premeditated calumnies of the opposition, we are entitled to call attention to the fact that all of these things were accomplished under the leadership of a great Democrat and of a

APPLE CROP WILL BREAK RECORD

County Yield to Surpass Last Year's By Five Thousand Bushels.

CROP 60 PER CENT BETTER

More Favorable Weather And Closer Attention to Spraying Details Reason Given. Peach Crop Estimate.

Adams county's commercial apple crop this year will exceed that of last year by at least five thousand bushels according to an announcement made today by Secretary Rasmussen of the State Department of Agriculture. Fourteen reports from this county show an aggregate production of 36,000 last year, and an estimate of 40,500 bushels this year. Reports from Franklin county show an aggregate production of 37,000 bushels last year and an estimate of 68,800 bushels this year.

Pennsylvania's commercial apple crop for 1920 will be sixty per cent greater than the 1919 crop, while the commercial peach crop will exceed that of 1919 by forty per cent, according to the statement. More favorable weather conditions and closer attention to spraying details are given by the Secretary as the reason for the excellent outlook for fruit.

A special report on the condition of the apple and peach orchards of the State was secured during the past several weeks by the Bureau of Statistics, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture. Reports were secured from 454 commercial apple growers, scattered throughout the State and from 250 commercial peach growers, covering every phase of the fruit industry.

The reports show that the yield from the average orchard in the State will be 2,150 bushels while in 1919 the average orchard yielded but 1,350 bushels. For peaches, the average orchard in the State this year will yield 1,450 bushels while last year the average yield was 1,000 bushels. These reports are for the commercial orchards alone and do not deal with the farmers who grow fruit for their own use and for small sales in the markets in their immediate neighborhood.

The 454 commercial apple growers, basing their reports on conditions as of June 1, estimate that their apple crop will total 974,500 bushels which is 85 per cent of a normal, or full crop. Last year the same orchard produced 612 bushels.

RAIL SITUATION BETTER

General Improvement Reported. No Change at Hagerstown.

(By Associated Press)

Philadelphia, June 28—General improvement was indicated today in the trainmen's strike situation, according to a statement issued by the Pennsylvania railroad. Many of the shopmen who struck have returned to work and the force is now ninety one per cent of the maximum.

This is the tenth day of the strike. The strikers say they are concentrating their efforts to bring out the passenger trainmen, shopmen, telegraphers and other classes of employes. They say there are 52,000 of these workers and they hope to induce them to join the strike tomorrow.

Baltimore, June 28—The railroad strike situation in the Baltimore district was reported to be virtually unchanged today and the same report came from the Western Maryland at Hagerstown. Passenger service was being maintained on all lines and food products were being moved, it was stated.

DEMOCRATS OPEN BIG CONVENTION

More Than Twelve Thousand People Sees Meeting Called to Order.

PATRIOTIC TOUCH GIVEN

Stars And Stripes Dominant Feature of Decorations. Cummings Delivers The Keynote Speech.

(By Associated Press)

San Francisco, June 28—Assembling at noon today for their first session delegates to the Democratic National convention heard the keynote speech of National Chairman Cummings and perfected preliminaries clearing the way for the real work of finding a presidential candidate. Twelve o'clock, noon, was the time fixed for the opening but hours before ticket holders gathered in the spacious building which for the occasion seats 12,000 persons. The decorations for the convention hall were simple and tasteful with the stars and stripes as the dominant feature of the beautiful display.

The 1092 delegates were compactly assembled close to the platform and stretched almost across the width of the hall. Here and there stood the standards of states and territories made of California red wood, showing the location of the delegations. Directly behind were the seats of the alternates and all about them in almost perfect circles were places for 10,000 other persons.

With the exception of the patriotic touch given at the start by presenting the colors by a detachment of marines, the opening preliminaries were not unlike those of prior conventions. The outstanding feature of the program was the keynote speech, understood to have been approved by President Wilson.

With the preliminaries over the convention committees will promptly get down to work. The greater interest as usual centers in the resolutions committee where the party issues will be fought out with good prospects that some of them will reach the convention floor for final decision.

In the meantime many of the presidential boomers were keeping in touch with delegates and working for positions in the early balloting.

STOCK REPORT

Market Makes Record For Dullness. Call Money Higher.

(By Associated Press)

New York, June 28—Trading on the stock market during the morning today established a new record for dullness. The first hour's business of about 65,000 shares was attended by further reactions in steels, equipment, oils and specialties comprising the chemical group which fell 1 to 2 points under Saturday's closing prices. The losses were extended before noon when motors and rails participated in further reactions. There was little buying power even at the more substantial recessions. Call money opened at nine per cent, repeating last week's final quotation.

M'ADOO NOW IN RECEPTIVE MOOD

Will Accept If Nominated. No Nominating Speech to be Made.

IS PLAYING A BIG GAME

Uninstructed Delegates Talking Strongly For Former Secretary of The Treasury.

San Francisco, June 28—Friends of William G. McAdoo have received what they characterize as assurance that if nominated Mr. McAdoo will accept.

The definite statement that Mr. McAdoo would accept was made by Thomas B. Love, national committeeman from Texas.

While Mr. Love declined to elaborate, McAdoo supporters were unanimous in declaring that it might be taken as authentic. Mr. Love is one of Mr. McAdoo's close personal friends, was an Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, under him, and during the last year has been very active in creating McAdoo sentiment.

Mr. Love's statement follows:

"The question is frequently asked whether, in view of Mr. McAdoo's sincere desire that his name be not presented to the convention, he would accept the nomination if made.

"I say with assurance that if nominated he will accept.

"The constantly increasing demand for Mr. McAdoo's nomination among arriving uninstructed delegates convinces me that he will be nominated. Texas will cast 40 votes for him from the beginning until he is nominated."

Word that Mr. Love was announcing that Mr. McAdoo would accept the nomination spread rapidly through the ranks of the delegates and displaced all other topics. Up to that time the McAdoo boomers had been working to hold their candidate in the reserve and bring him out at a moment when it appeared neither Cox nor Palmer could be nominated. This, they explained, had been forced upon them by Mr. McAdoo's repeated declarations that he would not accept the nomination.

With Mr. Love's statement, however, a lot of new life was injected into the McAdoo boom and delegates who had once declared for him, but later expressed other affiliations in view of his declinations to run, declared there would be a return of strength.

Mr. McAoo's candidacy has been managed here by an informal committee without organization and with the intention of not having his name formally presented to the convention. The plan has been to have no nominating speech and no formal presentation of their candidate to the convention, but to nominate him by Alabama casting her first ballot for him. Then, according to their plans, the other state delegations were to pile in their votes and make a showing. How many votes the McAdoo forces can muster on the first ballot is problematical, according to their own estimates. Some of his supporters have declared they expect as many as 250 and that they have information that enough delegates favor him for a second choice to run his ballot up to more than 600. The minimum they expect him to poll early in the balloting, they say, is "about 250."

Confusion, which Mr. McAdoo's telegrams have caused in the public mind, is shared by his warmest supporters here. The last word from him was a reiteration of his former declaration that he would not permit his name to be presented. But, his supporters point out, he never has said that he would not accept the nomination if it came to him.

SLASHES WIFE'S THROAT

Showman Attempts to Kill Spouse in York.

Mrs. Mary Callinchia, 23 West street, New Haven, Ct., an usher of the Selis-Floto Circus, is in the York Hospital with a slashed throat as a result of a murderous assault, by her husband, it is alleged, which occurred after Saturday night's performance. Her condition is serious, but the hospital authorities say she will recover. Callinchia has been captured.

The attack followed an ineffectual attempt on the husband's part to effect a reconciliation. The pair had been living apart and the woman, it is said, is trying for a divorce. Callinchia joined the show recently at Newark. Saturday night, according to the charge, following another attempt to bring about a reunion, when she refused to have anything to do with him, he threw her down, and, pressing his knees on her back and seizing her hair, slached her throat with a razor. As he declared he would kill her and himself, the razor broke. Believing that he had inflicted a mortal wound, the man fled.

NON-STOP FLIGHT RECORD BROKEN

Plane Covers 1,400 Miles in Eleven Hours. Lands in Darkness.

Philadelphia, June 28—Darkness last night forced the Larsen airplane, which left Omaha Sunday morning for New York to come to earth at Pine Valley, fifteen miles east of this city, but not until all American records for a nonstop flight had been shattered, according to John M. Larsen, one of the passengers. The aviators made another stop half way between this city and Lancaster, Pa., which point, Larsen said, was about 1,200 miles from Omaha. This distance, he declared was the longest nonstop flight ever made in America. The men were in the air a few minutes less than eleven hours, and, allowing for the added mileage caused by losing their way, a number of times, covered approximately 1,400 miles.

Leaving Omaha at 5:12 a. m. the machine, a "J. L." all metal multiplex, piloted by Bert Acosta and carrying Larsen and W. Bugh, a mechanician, encountered dense fog and strong side winds almost immediately. These conditions, Mr. Larsen said, prevailed virtually throughout the journey and were directly responsible for their not being able to reach their goal. He said the machine worked perfectly all the way and only for the fact they lost their bearings so often they would easily have arrived in New York by sundown.

"It was a wonderful trip and a wonderful performance," said Larsen. "We encountered dense fog and strong side winds, which blew us out of our course shortly after leaving Omaha. Both these adverse conditions stuck to us almost the entire journey and added a great deal of extra mileage.

"We endeavored to follow the railway lines, but frequently lost our bearings on account of the fog. Shortly before 6 o'clock this evening we again lost our way and decided to come to earth. We found we were about half way between Philadelphia and Lancaster, and that, although we had not reached our goal, we had set up a new American nonstop flight record."

ISSUES NOT MEN BASIS FOR FIGHT

Democratic Convention Stage All Set For Stormy Sessions.

LEADERS ARE JOCKEYING

Prohibition, The League And Irish Independence Big Questions. Planning to Block McAdoo.

San Francisco, June 28—Issues, rather than men, furnish the battleground for the Democratic National Convention.

Candidates cannot be considered until Prohibition, the League of Naitons and the Irish question have been fought out on the floor. Contests over these planks in the party platform seem inevitable and the convention is all set for a stormy time.

The big fight is over William Jennings Bryan's determination to have a "platform no wet can run on." On this the administration-or-Wilson-forces appear so far to be pursuing a hands-off policy. As yet no one knows what to expect from the White House.

On the League of Nations issue the administration forces are lined up for a plank modeled after the Virginia platform which declares for a covenant "without destructive reservations."

While the question of issues is boiling, little change is apparent in the lineup of strength of the various candidates. Cox and Palmer are expected to go in for a test of strength on the first ballots, much after the fashion of the Wood and Lowden race at the Republican convention. In the background waiting to appear at what they consider the psychological moment, are the invisible and intangible, but admittedly formidable forces working for McAdoo.

The Cox people profess to have enough strength to eliminate Palmer on the preliminary ballots and then plan to pit their candidate against the field, which by nature of McAdoo's position, includes him. The Palmer forces, pointing to the Anti-saloon League's declaration of war on Cox and Bryan's expressed views on the same subject, predict that any accessions to another candidate will not be made from their strength.

Meanwhile both the Cox and Palmer managers are borrowing delegates from the field to make a showing on the opening ballots. In line with their policy of forcing the nomination to call their candidate, the McAdoo people are laying back, but are very busy among the undercurrents corraling delegates for the moment when they expect it will be made clear to the convention that neither Cox nor Palmer can be nominated. They believe they have succeeded in prevailing upon those who want to place Mr. McAdoo in formal nomination to forego such action and let him be presented as a candidate when Alabama casts her first ballot for him.

Compared With Chicago

If the Cox and Palmer forces can have their way they will prevent McAdoo from occupying a strategic position in the rear. They contend that the elements for him make of his cause a candidacy which the convention must consider at the outset. This condition presents three leading candidates as was the case in the Republican convention. The Cox forces in particular are determined that McAdoo shall not be the Harding of the convention.

STRIKERS KILL ONE; HURT SEVEN

Bystander Caught in Longshoremen's Fight. Women in Danger.

Philadelphia, June 28—The reign of terror in the shipping district along the Delaware River that began four weeks ago when longshoremen declared a strike reached a tragic climax early last evening with a riot at Third and Federal streets that resulted in the death of one man and the wounding or injuring of seven other persons. The dead man played no part in the pitched battle fought by union longshoremen and strike-breakers, but was caught up in the maelstrom of wrath and before police could reach his side he was clubbed to death.

For a half hour the rival factions fought through the streets and at one time Jefferson Square, which was crowded with women and children, became the scene of the conflict. Residents of the neighborhood, driven from their homes by the excessive heat of the night, lined the thoroughfare when the firing started and many of them narrowly escaped death or serious injury.

Lay in Wait for Strike-Breakers

Police of the district were unable to cope with the situation and a general riot call, sent through the Electrical Bureau, brought out all reserves south of Market street. Early reports indicated that at least a score of persons were injured and a half dozen ambulances and as many patrol wagons were rushed to the area.

The fight started about 6 o'clock when a half hundred strike-breakers, having finished their day's work along the river front, marched to Third and Federal streets to board trolley cars. Traveling in groups for protection against the strikers, who had been threatening to beat up the men who took over their jobs, the men encountered no difficulty until they reached the neighborhood of Jefferson Square.

Without warning bullets began to fly and in a few minutes a pitched battle was in progress. When the police finally broke up the riot it was found that one man, an innocent bystander, had been killed and seven injured.

ANCIENTNESS.

The oldest thing that there can be,
Is year-before-last's motorcar—
Yes, you can take the word from me,
Those are the oldest things there are!

The pyramids that dot the sand
There in the Sphinx's neighborhood,
Are still so new they wear their brand,
Compared with this, 'tis understood.

Just ask an agent, who would sell
A next-year's model bright and new,
And he will either hint or tell
That what I've stated here is true.

To thresh your wheat or oats with flails
Is no less ancient than to strive
Along the Dixie-Lincoln trails
In something with a right-hand drive.

FAVOR CLOSING PHEASANT SEASON

Hanover Association Seeking Hunter Who Killed Breeding Birds.

Members of the Hanover Game Protective Association have taken action favoring a closed season for ring-necked pheasants in York and Adams counties for two years. The Hanover association is assisting the state in the propagation of pheasants in this vicinity and the members were indignant when they received reports that some of the birds placed in the Pigeon Hills for breeding purposes have been killed. The association is determined to find out who shot the pheasants and will bring a charge against the guilty person or persons A penalty of a heavy fine and imprisonment is faced by the offenders if caught.

Seven pair of ring-necked pheasants have been placed in this vicinity and a large number of eggs have been sent out to farmers who have had them hatched and are taking care of the young birds. The farmers report excellent success in breeding the pheasants and one farmer now has 12 young ones under his care.

The season for hunting pheasants usually opens in October but the association will make efforts to have a ban placed on shooting these birds for two years so that they will have a chance of breeding.

The association also has made application for several different species of fish, which will be placed in nearby streams.

MADE CIDER; FINED

Prohibition Men Charge Attempt Made to Discredit Law.

Pottsville, June 28—That hard cider falls under the ban of the prohibition law was impressed upon three bachelor brothers, Benjamin, Frank and John Koons, three farmers from the village of Valley View, arraigned before Judge Bechtel Saturday. Constable John Ney, who prosecuted them, alleged that two of the brothers visited Benjamin and that the trio got drunk on cider. Benjamin denied they were drunk, declaring a man is sober unless he falls under the table.

The attorneys warned the men they had no right to give cider away, not even to Judge Bechtel if he visited them, which caused a roar of laughter in court. They were allowed to depart upon paying the costs.

This prosecution together with other cases against persons selling near beer and cereal beverages has angered prohibition leaders, who say an attempt is being made to make a farce of the law, while whisky is being sold in large quantities without prosecution. The near beer being sold is said to have less alcohol than buttermilk.

WAGE RAISE OF 22 PER CENT

Is Amount Rail Board is Figuring On.

Chicago, June 28—W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen Saturday began work in an effort to bring back into the Brotherhood ranks the fifteen thousand workers expelled for taking part in unauthorized strikes during the last year.

"With the promise of a wage scale decision before July 20 retroactive to May 1 there is no reason for further dissension in our ranks," he said. "Already we have taken back 15,000 of the 30,000 men who were expelled and we will take back others who make proper amends."

Lee remained in Chicago while other heads of the big four brotherhoods returned to their homes. He was in wire communication with leaders of his organization all over the country and declared his belief that efforts to take out trainmen and yardmen on strike at midnight would prove futile.

It is reported that the board which has been in executive session here three weeks has agreed on a tentative average wage increase for the various crafts of 22 per cent. Members of the board refused to corroborate this report.

THINK MARRYING TOO CHEAP

Ministers Find Their Fees Harvest Increased With H. C. L.

Bellefonte, Pa., June 28—Ministers in Central Pennsylvania are becoming agitated over the fact that while everything else has advanced to practically double the old prices, the marriage fee still remains the same, in most cases a $5 bill, while a few bridegrooms give even less. Cases where the officiating minister receives more are said to be exceptional. Ministers especially complain of the injustice of being requested to go anywhere from 10 to 20 miles, furnish their own means of conveyance, and then get but $5 for the ceremony, which does not pay for the time and expense.

Private Lynn, who won the Victoria Cross, the Distinguished Conduct Medal and the Cross of St. George, and then was killed, was represented by his fiancee.

ASKS WILSON TO SAY "NO"

Democrat Urges Third Term Repudiation Before Convention Meets.

Washington, D. C., June 28—Representative Upshaw, Democrat, of Georgia, in a letter to President Wilson Saturday, told the Executive that "it would have a wholesome and composing effect if you would declare before the gavel falls at the opening hour that you would not accept a third term."

"Permit me to say," the Georgia Representative's letter added, "that I am reinforced in this conviction by comments that I have heard from your strong supporters in every section of the country. A third term for any President is counted by them a dangerous tendency in any republic. The feeling seems regnant everywhere that Washington was right and wise when he refused a third term thereby establish a precedent for our Republic that has been mandatory through all these years."

WAR SECRET IN OLD GLOVE

Plan of French Fortifications Found by Workman in Illinois.

Decatur, Ill., June 28—Tearing apart the gauntlet of an old leather glove which he had picked up when fighting a fire at the Wabash Railroad shops, H. von Boeckman, roundhouse employee, recently found concealed therein a ground plan of the fortifications about the city of Amiens, France. The drawing was on tracing muslin.

In the other glove was found another map, but it was so damaged that the tracings were illegible. Both were encased in oil cloth and sewed in between the two layers of leather which formed the gauntlet. Boeckman said he was led to tear the gloves apart because of their peculiar stitching.

McADOO ON FIFTH

San Francisco, June 28—McAdoo on the fifth or the sixth ballot is the prophecy of Senator Carter Glass. Shortly after the positive announcement that McAdoo would take the nomination if offered was made by Mrs. Antoinette Funk.

At a caucus the Texas delegation to the San Francisco convention unanimously put itself on record for the nomination of McAdoo and pledged every one of the forty delegates to his support.

In taking this step the delegates said they were following the lead of the "immortal forty," which in 1912, at Baltimore, entered the lists for Wilson and stood by him through the balloting.

"Love is a form of insanity," remarked the disillusioned wife. "Which usually terminates in bankruptcy," added her cruel husband.—

INDEPENDENTS IN THE FOURTEENTH

Many Extra Base Hits Feature Contest With New Oxford.

In the fourteenth inning of a gruelling struggle that had been replete with thrilling long distance hits, "Whitey" Woodward pounded a two bagger scoring Plank with the run necessary for the Independents to win over New Oxford. Score 5-4.

The crowd of fans fortunate enough to go to the Playground, Saturday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock witnessed the kind of contest that lingers long in local baseball history.

With Gettysburg leading by one run, Gaugher opened the New Oxford fifth with a single. McKin drew a pass and then "Hen" Hersh, Gettysburg College outfielder, who occupied the center garden for New Oxford, cleaned the bases with a home run to deep left.

Another Gettysburg College player, Walter Plowman, who covered short for New Oxford on Saturday, was responsible for a run in the eighth when he tripled and crossed the plate on Woodward's error.

With the game apparently lost in the eighth inning, "Buzz" Stover, local infielder, came to the rescue by pounding out the second homer of the game with Earl Thompson and Cromer on the paths.

McKin, of New Oxford, went the entire route of fourteen innings and allowed but nine hits in that time. Palmer twirled the first eight innings for Gettysburg and was relieved at the beginning of the ninth by Ross Sheely, who allowed three hits and no runs in the six sessions he worked.

The features of the game were the fast fielding of the Gettysburg infield and the batting of Hersh, Plowman, and Stover.

BLUE RIDGE LEAGUE

Loose fielding on the part of the Frederick team and timely hits by Yarrison and Kolseth enabled Hanover to win Saturday by the score of 8-4. Frederick was crippled by the absence of Wilhide, West Point shortstop, who is out of the game because of injury.

Hagerstown increased its league lead by bunching hits in the early innings and trimming Martinsburg, 7-6. "Reggie" Rawlings, left fielder, hit a home run.

Although outbatted by Waynesboro seven hits to three, Chambersburg managed to win by a 3-1 score.

BIG CROWDS AT HANOVER

Magnates Delighted With Large Turn Out Of Fans.

Dr. John Meisenhelder, "Ted" O'Neill, and other men at Hanover who have taken a big part in directing the financial affairs of the Blue Ridge League club there, are delighted with the enthusiasm being shown by the fans this year. On Saturdays crowds of 1200 or even 1300 are considered only normal while through the week, including Mondays, the attendance varies from 700 to 900.

Members of the Hanover team say that the attendance on their home grounds is the best in the league despite the fact that they are in last place. After the Saturday game, however, their percentage mounted to 400 and they need only a short winning streak to land them in the first division.

BIG PRICE FOR GROVES

Jack Dunn Pays $3500 For Blue Ridge Hurler.

Lefty Groves, pitching ace of the Martinsburg, W. Va., Blue Ridge League club, has been purchased by Jack Dunn, of the Orioles, for $3500, a record price for a player from the Blue Ridge. In addition the Baltimore club will send a pitcher, probably Carrol Bowersox, to the Martinsburg management.

Groves is twenty years of age and hails from Cumberland. He is pitching his first season in organized baseball and is going in great shape.

Men ascend by spiritual and intellectual desire. Therefore seek for a glimpse of the incomprehensibles, and thoughts of things which thoughts but tenderly touch. CAMERA JINX HITS HUGMEN'S CAMP

MILLER HUGGINS

Posing for pictures is the latest jinx to overtake the rampaging Yankees. The whole club has got it, from the bat boy down the bench. Even Babe Ruth—the boy whose popularity this year depends partly on the publicity he gets—is coached to dodge the photo-making birds. Miller Huggins blames a camera man for every home run Babe doesn't get.

the troopers when he was forced to dig down in his pocket and hand over $14.

The action of the state policemen in Fairfield on Sunday is merely a forerunner of more arrests that will follow if the automobile drivers persist in violating the law, says Corporal Dixon.

"We have been sent here from headquarters to nab these speeders and other violaters of the law and we intend to follow out those orders," the Corporal states. "Through the columns of The TIMES and in various other ways we have given fair warning to automobile owners that they must obey the laws of the state. From now on we intend to act."

LOGS FROM LORRAINE FORESTS FOR RECONSTRUCTION OF FRANCE

PEACE INDUSTRY IN FULL BLAST—INTERIOR OF A BIG AUTOMOBILE FACTORY IN PARIS

By FRANCIS H. SISSON,
Vice President Guaranty Trust Company of New York.

FRANCE has accomplished in the last year so stupendous a task in post-war rehabilitation that one marvels how the work has been done. Seventy-six thousand structures had been erected or repaired by the end of August, 1919, and 60,000 additional buildings were then under construction. About 550,000 buildings were destroyed or damaged during the war. At the same time 89 per cent of the destroyed railroad trackage had been rebuilt, an area of 1,500 square miles of shell-riddled, tillable land cleaned up, 80,000,000 cubic yards of trenches filled, 991,000 refugees returned to their homes, 5,000 schools reopened and 3,872 civic communities reorganized.

The battle zones and the districts occupied by the enemy represented more than 50 per cent of the nation's coal production, 92 per cent of the total iron ore output, 81 per cent of the blast furnaces and 65 per cent of the steel works. This same territory produced before the war about three-fifths of the total value of French woolen goods and three-quarters of the French beet sugar crop.

With the restoration of the Lost Provinces, the territorial and colonial dominion of the French Republic today is an economic unit of nearly 100,000,000 inhabitants, a rich field for French commercial and industrial endeavor.

The restoration of farms and the clearing up of the 4,400,000 acres of tillable land in the devastated regions are progressing rapidly. Sixty-five per cent of the damaged area, in fact, had been restored to cultivation by October, 1919.

Agricultural machinery and fertilizers are being extensively used to replace the loss of farm labor resulting from the war and from the increasing call of the factory. The restoration of Alsace will mean a great deal to French agriculture, as its output of potash in 1913 was 350,000 tons.

Extensive development of the iron fields of Normandy during the war gives promise of a considerably enlarged iron output within the pre-war borders of France. With the restoration of Alsace-Lorraine, whose production of iron ore in 1913 was 20,536,000 tons, the French output will be 45,000,000 tons of iron ore, of which 17,000,000 tons will be free for export, and 9,000,000 tons of pig iron, of which 1,250,000 tons will be available for foreign trade. More than 8,000,000 tons of steel products will permit the sale abroad of 2,000,000 tons. France will thus rank high on the list of the world's steel producing countries.

Every effort is being made to economize coal and to develop hydro-electric power. Today the available horsepower is about double that of 1913 and will reach 1,500,000 horsepower during the year.

The use of fuel oil is being greatly extended in France. The shale-beds of Autun; the Peschelbronn district in Alsace-Lorraine, producing 51,193 tons of oil per annum, where a new gusher of 30 tons daily output has just been discovered, and the oil wells of Algeria are the main sources of supply.

The cotton industry of France requires about 1,100,000 bales of cotton a year, valued at about $200,000,000. The supply comes mostly from the United States, although Algeria and the French African colonies are beginning to furnish cotton to the home market.

This industry, employing 360,000 operators—1,200,000, if operators in affiliated industries be included—numbered 7,400,000 spindles and 140,000 looms.

Woolen fabrics exported before the war were in excess of 18,000 tons per annum, the total production occupying 2,600,000 spindles, to which Alsace adds another 500,000 spindles. With Alsace, France will have more than 13 per cent of the world's total number of looms employed for woolen products.

The main arteries of communication in France comprised in 1918 more than 32,000 miles of railroads, 3,000 miles of canals, 4,250 miles of navigable rivers and 375,000 miles of good highways. To these should be added nearly 4,000,000 gross tons of ocean cargo carriers now under the French flag.

Of 3,500 miles of destroyed railroad trackage, all but 122 miles had been rebuilt by December 1, 1919. Eight-tenths of the damaged waterways also were open to traffic on that date.

The merchant fleet is being increased to 6,000,000 gross tons. Enlarged docks, vast piers and modern electric cranes will reduce terminal costs.

Exports to the United States and her colonies in 1919 were greater than in 1913, with an increase of 191 per cent over 1918.

France is in a particularly favorable position to expand her trade in the Near East and with her colonies. While the depreciation of the French franc in certain countries may be a handicap to the purchase of raw materials or even to the sale of products, it is well to remember that it will prove a great help to France in regaining the foreign markets lost during the war.

The French people have made surprising progress in the period since the armistice in readjusting industry to a peace basis. As early as February, 1919, the Minister of Industrial Reconstruction reported that out of a total of 1,700,000 employees occupied on November 11, 1918, in a group of government and private plants 1,300,000 were then engaged in peace time pursuits.

The government had made on November 15, 1919, advances in excess of 3,000,000,000 francs to the industrial interests of this region for the reconstruction of their factories, and the budget for 1920 provides for the expenditure of nearly 5,000,000,000 francs during the first quarter for the same purpose.

A most significant factor for the industrial future of France is her vast colonial domain. The area of the French colonies and dependencies is 23 times that of continental France, and the estimated population in 1913 was greater than that of France by about 25 per cent.

Deposits in savings banks on December 31, 1919, totaled 6,086,000,000 francs. And it should be remembered that the maximum deposit for one account permitted under the law was 3,000 francs up to October 19 last, when the amount was increased to 5,000 francs. Gold holdings by the Bank of France on February 18, 1920, were 5,581,270,275 francs against a note circulation of 37,958,511,021 francs.

The debt of France amounts, at par of exchange, to about $40,000,000,000 approximately six times her pre-war debt. Only $6,000,000,000 constitutes the foreign debt.

The great confidence in their government displayed by the French people is evidenced by the wide distribution of national bonds, almost one inhabitant out of every five being a bondholder.

JOSH WISE AT THE DONKEY CIRCUS!

BY J. W. RAPER,
Creator of "Josh Wise."

JACK RAPER

San Francisco, June 28—Up to date their hasn't been any mention of the steam roller. And it isn't necessary for the delegates to take their hats off for a man to see that what this convention needs is not a steam roller, but a lawn mower.

The chairman will call the convention to order and the police will try to keep it that way.

The Democrats are showering high honors upon the women. They've appointed a dozen of them ushers and if the girls do their work well the bosses will let 'em wash and dry the dishes.

You hear a great deal more talk about "third term" than "third party."

It hardly seems right to speak of Champ Clark's candidacy as the Clark "boom". It's more like a pop—or a crack.

Strange as it may seem, there are scores of delegates and patriots who say they were in favor of a prohibition law. But they explain that they supposed it would be like the anti-trust and anti-profiteering laws—never enforced.

The buffalo, for which the west was once so famous, may be extinct but its place has been taken by the bull.

You can't blame any delegate who doesn't believe Wilson and McAdoo. If you had ever attended a Democratic convention you wouldn't believe anybody.

While no vote has been taken on the question, it looks as though Debs is the only man whom this convention would give a third term—and in the same place.

This convention will have no stellar clown like Chauncey M. Depew. It would be pretty hard for one clown to stand out prominently at a Democratic convention.

FAIRFIELD BEAT ODD NINE

Trimmed Gettysburg Bunch 11-8. Held Successful Festival.

On Saturday afternoon the newly organized Fairfield ball team won a heavy hitting contest from the "Odd Nine" club of Gettysburg. Score 11-8.

The work of the Fairfield team was particularly fast in the opening inning when they retired the visitors in one-two-three order. Oyler, first man up, hit a vicious drive to center field for what looked to be a sure two bagger but was put out by a circus catch by Landis. Stevens and Wilson were then retired by a fast double play.

In the Fairfield half of the third inning, Third Baseman Musselman made a three bagger, completing the circuit on a single by Landis.

Four innings later Fairfield tucked the game away by pounding Oyler to all corners of the lot and tallying five runs.

Saturday evening a festival was held for the benefit of the Fairfield ball team and was very well patronized, the receipts being in excess of one hundred dollars.

BOMBS EXPLODE AT HAVANA

Shake Walls of Police Station. Offenders Unknown.

(By Associated Press)

Havana, Cuba, June 28—Downtown Havana was shaken at midnight last night by the explosion of two bombs in apertures in the walls of the second precinct police station by unknown persons. One man was injured by flying debris.

A few minutes later another and heavier bomb exploded in front of a pawn shop throwing articles on display in every direction.

Police officials found in the walls of the station house another bomb that had failed to explode.

WAR PRISONERS DROWN

Bolshevik Steamer With 2,000 Aboard Reported Sunk Recently.

(By Associated Press)

London, June 28—Two thousand British, Austrian, German and Finnish prisoners of war were drowned when the Bolshevik steamer was recently sunk in the Nava river, according to a Helsingfors dispatch to the Central News. A Reuters report from Stockholm would seem to confirm the dispatch saying that a ship was sunk on the sixth of June with 2,000 repatriated prisoners on board. It, however, does not mention the loss of life.

ENOUGH VOTES FOR GLASS

Is Claim of His Supporters For Chairmanship.

(By Associated Press)

San Francisco, June 28—Confidence that Senator Glass, of Virginia, had more than enough votes to elect him chairman of the resolutions committee was asserted today by his managers following work lasting until an early hour.

"We have several votes to spare," said Senator Harrison, of Mississippi, who has been active in support of the Virginia Senator.

Friends of Senator Walsh, of Montana, brought out in opposition to Senator Glass would not concede the Virginian's lead, however, and still claimed a majority.

great Democratic Administration. If the Republican leaders are not able to rejoice with us in this American triumph they should have the grace to remain silent, for it does not lie in the mouths of those who conducted the Spanish-American war to indulge in the luxury of criticism."

Referring to congressional investigations by "smelling committees," he said that over 80 investigations have been made, over two million dollars wasted and "the result has been to prove that it was the cleanest war ever fought in the history of civilization."

"The Republican party became so fixed in its incorrigible habit of conducting investigations that it finally turned to the fruitful task of investigating itself. They discovered fraud and graft and gross and inexcusable expenditures. The revelations disclose the fact that the meeting in Chicago was not a convention but an auction. The highest bidder, however, did not get the prize. The publicity which overtook the proceedings frustrated the initial purpose. The Chicago convention left the Democratic party as the sole custodian of the honor of the country."

President Wilson's two appeals before congress for legislation dealing with profiteering, reduction of taxation, aid for soldiers and laws to improve relations of capital and labor were ignored, he declared, and "after a year of sterile debate our country has neither peace nor reconstruction."

He dwelt particularly on attacks made upon the President. Malice followed him to the peace tabie, he said, and wide spread propaganda made it imperative when he returned from Paris to "make a struggle for that which had been won at incalculable cost. This meant wreck of health, sickness for months on a bed of pain; and worse, the sickness of heart which comes from the knowledge that political adversaries are savagely destroying not merely the work of men's hands, but the world's hope of settled peace. This was the affliction—this the crucifixion."

Mr. Cummings continued that in one sense "it is quite immaterial what people say about the president. Nothing we can say can add or detract from the fame that will flow down the unending channels of history."

He cited the Republican and Progressive platforms of 1916 as part of the record placing this country in favor of the league of nations.

"The Republican platform contains a vague promise to establish another or a different form of association," he said. "There is no mental dishonesty more transparent than that which expresses fealty to a league of nations while opposing the only league that exists or is ever apt to exist.

"What nations stand outside? Revolutionary Mexico, Bolshevist Russia, unspeakable Turkey and—the United States.

"It is not yet too late. Let us stand with the forces of civilization. The choice is plain. It is between the Democratic party's support of the league of nations, with its program of peace, disarmament and world fraternity, and the Republican party's platform of repudiation, provincialism, militarism and world chaos."

"THE COPPERHEAD"

The greatest Picture of the Civil War that was ever produced. To his country and Lincoln he had secretly given his all. Had accepted a task that could not be explained. Even his wife believed him a traitor.

Sneered at, hated, falsely convicted of murder, he uttered never a word. Only he and Lincoln knew how great was the thing he had done. Never in the history of Motion Pictures has a great picture of the Civil War like this been made and no one in Gettysburg should fail to see this picture. When this picture was shown in New York a prologue was staged of the Battle of Gettysburg, followed by the reading of Lincoln's Gettysburg address.
